OLCOTT'S NEW PLAY.

Witnessed by an Appreciative Audience at the Academy.

Chauncey Olcott was greeted last night at the Academy of Music in the new comedy drama, "The Irish Artist," by a large and appreciative audience. The plot of the drama is similar to that of most Irish dramas on the stage nowadays.

The character, Maurice Cronin, assumed by Olcott, that of a young, ambitious artist and successful from a professional standpoint, yet struggling financially, which hinders the progress of his love affairs with Miss Katie Mahone until a chance discovery proves him to be the legitimate son of Sir Robert Dean, a well-to-do gentleman of the village, and not the son of Cormac Cronin, a farmer with whom he has lived as son for many years, is probable enough; still the characters, Edmund Dean, his brother, and Maggie Cronin, his supposed sister, who has been wronged by Edmund, are quite improbable and certainly so very unusual in Ireland as to make their presence in most Irish dramas a matter for amazement.

Aside from this the show is an excellent one, the singing of his own songs by Mr. Olcott and of Moore's "Believe Me of All Those Endearing Young Charms," was a treat. One fitting acting deserves special mention, viz., the courting scene between Jerry Sweeney and Widow Blake. The scenery is first-class and the costumes, which are said to be historically correct, are elegant.

IN THE TENDERLOIN.

It is a Melodrama That Will Not Elevate the Stage.

"In the Tenderloin" will never be responsible for elevating the stage even in the slightest degree, but as a moving picture of the seamy side of life in New York it is probable that it has never been surpassed.

The scenes in Phil Daly's gambling house, Tom Davis' green goods house and the Sans Souci, Tom Gould's notorious resort for toughs, were staged in a splendid manner, the last mentioned in particular.

To add to the realism of the play Tom Gould and George Appo, the man who told the Lexow committee all about the green goods business in New York a short time ago, were introduced as members of the cast. They are not ornaments to the profession. Appo is a small, one-eyed man who looks much younger than he is. He has a thin piping voice and a difficulty in disposing of his hands when before the audience. Besides these worthies, whose parts are mainly of a thinking character, there are Frederick Bryton and several other competent actors in the company.

As an object lesson of the wickedness there is in New York "In the Tenderloin" is a success, but its effect on the stage and on acting from an artistic standpoint is most debilitating.

SOCIAL AT PROVIDENCE.

Given by Keystone Club at Armory of Company D.

The social of the Keystone Social club at Company D armory last night was one of the most brilliant social events of this season in the North End. The large drill room was decorated in a pretty manner with evergreens and bunting. Curtains and plants arranged most artistically screened the windows from view and palms and plants were bunched on the front of the stage.

From the curb stone to the building was an awning and at the entrance a set of gates was arranged in a floral arch. These gates were guarded by little policemen and swung open for the guests approached. Refreshments were served during the evening. Bauer's orchestra furnished the dance music and vocal numbers were rendered by the Electric City quartette.

The event was enjoyed by a large number of young people from Scranton and its vicinity.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH SIDE

Stephen Judge Passed Away at an Early Hour Yesterday Morning.

TIME OF FUNERAL NOT SET

Bernard Bubel Thinks That People Who Worried About His Children Were Not Wise--Stories About Councilmen Westphal and Robinson Wrong.

At 1 o'clock yesterday morning Stephen Judge, one of the best known young men of the Twentieth ward, died, after an illness lasting two weeks, at his home in the rear of 1313 Cedar avenue. When the announcement was made Christmas morning that he was dangerously ill it surprised and shocked all who knew him. Sunday evening Dr. Manley informed his family of the weakness of his condition and other physicians were called in consultation, but all efforts to save his life were of no avail.

His manly qualities won for him a friend wherever he found an acquaintance. He was an energetic citizen and was prominent in any public measure that interested the people of the Twentieth ward. He was a prominent member of Columbus council, Young Men's Institute, and was elected last Sunday as first vice-president. He was in his thirty-third year and was married eleven years ago to Miss Catherine Coyne of Minooka. His widow and two children survive him. Arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

Bubel Did Not Worry. As stated in yesterday's paper the fire Wednesday evening on Meadow avenue originated in the house owned by Bernard Bubel, and it was sensationally reported for a time that some of his children were in the house when the fire broke out and had been burned up in the flames. The Scranton Saengerfunde, having a Christmas celebration in Natter's hall on Alder street, and Bubel, with his family was there. He was met on his way home about 10 o'clock that night by one of his acquaintances and informed that his home had been burned to ashes in his absence.

The unfortunate news did not appear to worry him in the least and when he was told that the neighbors were afraid lest some of his children might have perished, he philosophically remarked that they were foolish to think of such a thing. He also lost his home, the building's furniture at $1,500. He had no theory to offer regarding the origin of the fire.

They Were Hoaxed. A telephone message, conveying the news that Select Councilman Charles W. Westphal, of Pittston avenue, had been established in the side and a serious wound inflicted, was received at the offices of the morning newspapers of the city yesterday morning about 1 o'clock. The author of the message was Will F. Clifford. He could not be seen yesterday so that he might give an account of himself for performing such a despicable trick. There was not a vestige of truth in the story nor any excuse for it. Select Councilman Westphal was seen yesterday by a Tribune reporter and he was in his usual good health.

He did not see Clifford on the night in question and was at a loss to account for the motive that actuated him in circulating the story. As a practical joker Mr. Clifford deserves to rank with the thick individual who sat on a limb and sawed himself down. His ideas of humor need revising.

Shorter Paragraphs.

Miss Ida Kane, of Newark, N. J., is visiting Miss Josephine Clifford, of Prospect avenue.

Charles Krebs, of the New York Biscuit company, is spending the holidays with his parents on Hickory street.

James Gilmore, of Stafford avenue, had his fingers painfully crushed between two stones while he was loading his wagon with quarry stone. Dr. Manley dressed the fingers.

On New Year's day the King's Daughters and Ladies' Aid societies of the Cedar Avenue Methodist Episcopal church will furnish a turkey dinner. Between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock a watch service will be held.

Last night the members of the Scranton Athletic club held a meeting for the purpose of undertaking the programme of arrangements for the coming eleventh anniversary ball to be held in Germania hall on Monday evening, Jan. 21.

The Saengerfunde celebration of Christmas was enjoyed Wednesday night at Natter's hall and all the children were treated to presents from the mammoth Christmas tree. The older folks enjoyed themselves with more substantial entertainment, and the evening was generally observed with pleasure by all. The Saengerfunde sang many pleasing choruses.

A story as false and about as serious as the one concerning Select Councilman Westphal was current yesterday regarding Philip Robinson, of the M. Robinson brewery. It was said that his right arm had been so badly crushed by getting caught in the machinery at the brewery that amputation was necessary. Mr. Robinson did not sustain an injury. The fool joker needs suppressing.

The gospel meeting at the South Side Young Woman's Christian association will be held next Sunday at 3:45 o'clock by Mrs. L. M. Gates. It will be a profitable meeting to close the old year, and all women should be present. The association invites all men and women of the city to call at the rooms New Year's day, giving the citizens a good opportunity to know more of this organization on the South Side.

THE CASHIER PAID INTEREST

One of the Daring Methods by Which McKean Stole $505,000.

By the United Press. Nashua, N. H., Dec. 27.--Bank Examiner C. M. Dorr will complete his investigation of the accounts of Frank A. McKean, the defaulting cashier of the Indian Head National bank, tonight. The examination of the books have revealed a most daring method on the part of the embezzler in robbing his friends and the bank, and it is now readily understood how he secured $505,000 before any suspicions were aroused.

One of the principle methods by which McKean obtained money was through an old certificate book which the bank officials supposed was filed away in the vaults. The bank pays no interest on deposits, but some years ago the directors planned to issue interest bearing certificates of deposit. Soon after they gave up the plan and the certificate book was put away in the vaults. McKean abstracted it and issued certificates indiscriminately, paying the interest from the bank's funds. One man in Nashua has a certificate of this kind for $10,000, and has been paid 5 per cent. interest by McKean. The defaulter kept a careful account of these certificates and altered the books to cover up the stealings that were necessary to pay interest.

TO FIGHT IT IN THE SENATE. The Heller-Laubach Election Contest at Easton Adjourned. Easton, Pa., Dec. 27.--The election contest begun in the interest of Dr. H. D. Heller, of Hellertown, Republican candidate for senator from the Eleventh Pennsylvania district in the recent election, was ended this afternoon by Judge Schuyler declining to give up the certificate of election to Edward H. Laubach, of Northampton, the Democratic candidate for re-election. The election board had returned Laubach as elected by 52 majority. The contestants alleged that sixty-three illegal votes were cast for Laubach in South Bethlehem, Bethlehem and Hellertown.

The ballot boxes were brought into court, the alleged illegal votes in the Third ward of South Bethlehem inspected, and thirteen were found to be for Heller, ten for Laubach and one blank. The contestants then agreed to discontinue the investigation and not open any more ballot boxes. The contest will now be carried to the state senate.

SUNG RETREATS TO MA.

Chinese Troops at Tas-Han-Lien Are Spreading Their Front.

London, Dec. 27.--A dispatch to the Central News says the Chinese army under General Sung having been defeated at Kung-Wa-Sai, retreated to New-Chwang. The Chinese were joined by the troops under command of General Ma, and the combined force retreated to Tien-Chong-Tai, the town of New-Chwang being completely evacuated.

The Chinese troops at Tas-Han-Lien are spreading their front and increasing the number of their banners in order to make the greatest possible display of strength.

TORTURED THIRTY YEARS.

His Sufferings Ended After Using Munyon's Rheumatism Cure.

Mr. George Smith, of Tacony, Pa., says: "I suffered from rheumatism for thirty years, and had so many severe attacks that some of my joints were twisted out of shape. At times I suffered terrible pain, and although I tried many remedies, I never obtained any permanent relief until I procured Munyon's Rheumatism Cure. The action of this remedy was wonderfully quick, and although I have only taken a small quantity, I consider myself permanently cured."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. Epworth League Concert. A large audience accepted the invitation of the Elm Park Epworth league to attend the concert last evening. The league chorus choir sang several selections, which were well received and an instrumental trio, consisting of Allan Lawrence, cornet; A. Baushman, violin, and Miss Smith, piano, were chosen in each number. P. H. Heller read a paper, "Looking Backward," and F. Beldeman read a paper on "Looking Forward."

Each one dealt with the work of the league in an interesting manner. G. Fred Whittemore presided and delivered a practical address upon the objects of the league.

Victory for the First Team. An exciting basketball game was played in the Young Men's Christian association gymnasium last night between No. 1 and No. 2 teams, resulting in a victory of 2 to 1 in favor of the first team. The two teams will meet again on Saturday night.

THERE IS PLenty OF SNOW

Storm Continued to Rage All During the Day.

CLEARING UP THE CAR TRACKS

Cars Running as Far as the Western Switch on Providence Line--Condition of Affairs on Steam Roads--Running Into the City.

Scranton was snowbound yesterday and reports from every town between here and Philadelphia indicate that along that line the storm has been the severest. From 9 o'clock Wednesday night until 8 o'clock last night street car traffic was at a standstill, not a wheel turning, except on the snow plows. Eighteen inches of snow had fallen and buried the tracks, and even on steam railroads traffic was impeded. Up and down the coal fields not a colliery was in operation, and passenger trains were delayed several hours in the early part of the day.

Here in the city what interested the people most was the resumption of street car travel. The snow had done no damage, the storm not being accompanied by any wind, except one that just kept the snow drifting back on the street car tracks as fast as it was being shoveled away. On this account the work of clearing the tracks was slow. General Manager Bechtel was out all night directing every man in the employ of the Traction company. On the Peckville line two cars were stalled during the night on the upper end of the line, and two were snow-bound at Weston switch, near the end of the Providence line. On the South Side line every car was snowed in, one on Cedar avenue across the bridge, one on Mattes street, one in Greenwood and two in Moosic. Passengers had to walk after 9 o'clock, as there was not a car in the city running.

Cars Moving in Providence. The first sign of activity occurred at 8 o'clock last evening when the cars on the Providence line began to make their regular time as far as Weston switch. About the same time travel opened on the Green Ridge People's line and three cars made trips between Lackawanna avenue and Delaware street. On the South Side Bank side the main line was opened as far as Hampton street, and cars were running last night. But no attempt had been made to go to Taylor, or out Luzerne, Washburn, or Sweetland streets. Not a car was run on Laurel hill park, Nay Aug Falls, either of the suburban lines, or on the South Side. A force of men, however, was sent out last night on these lines with shovels and they are clearing the tracks. It is expected that today the cars will be running on all lines, unless another fall of snow should set in.

During this storm the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company has had less trouble with the Pocono mountain than on any former occasion where the fall has been as deep. Passenger trains from New York yesterday morning were not more than an hour late and in the afternoon they were running on time. On the northern division the greatest trouble was reported at Great Bend, but on the Bloomsburg the trains were delayed three and four hours. The Delaware and Hudson trains running north were not delayed by the storm, but they were late coming from Wilkes-Barre, because the Lehigh Valley trains from the east and south were all behind time several hours in making their connections, which caused the Delaware and Hudson trains to be late.

Snow on Wilkes-Barre Mountain. Harry C. Haak, of Power's drug store, came up from Philadelphia yesterday afternoon and he stated that the line between here and Pottsville has had the heaviest fall of snow in many years. On the Wilkes-Barre mountain it required two engines ahead and one in the rear to haul the passenger trains. Freight traffic at the Lehigh Valley Coston yards was delayed and the drifts on the mountain cut-off were so heavy that the snow plow had to be sent up.

At 9 o'clock last night all passenger trains on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Delaware and Hudson, Central Railroad of New Jersey and Ontario and Western were running on time.

Epworth League Concert. A large audience accepted the invitation of the Elm Park Epworth league to attend the concert last evening. The league chorus choir sang several selections, which were well received and an instrumental trio, consisting of Allan Lawrence, cornet; A. Baushman, violin, and Miss Smith, piano, were chosen in each number. P. H. Heller read a paper, "Looking Backward," and F. Beldeman read a paper on "Looking Forward."
